

Lie Hails Last Year As Step Toward Peace

Says War May Soon Become Out Moded

Lake Success, Aug. 8.—(AP) U. N. Secretary-General Trygve Lie tonight hailed the past 12 months as a "year of progress towards a more peaceful world."

In his fourth annual report, Lie told the 59 member nations the fear of war has definitely decreased despite big power differences.

The 159-page report was the most optimistic yet issued by the secretary-general.

In a speech delivered a few hours earlier at Bergen, Norway, the secretary general expressed confidence that in five more years war may become old-fashioned.

10 Years To Win Peace

He recalled that Franklin D. Roosevelt once said it might take five years to win the war and afterwards 10 years to win the peace.

In his report Lie credited the ending of the Berlin blockade with doing the most to ease world tension, but added:

"United Nations action in other parts of the world has also contributed to the progress made towards a more peaceful world by either preventing or ending wars involving 500,000 people."

This was a reference to U. N. mediation efforts in Palestine, Kashmir and Indonesia.

Lie conceded the U. N. still has not been able to resolve the differences which have caused the cold war between Russia and the western powers. He said, however, "The conflict has been kept within peaceful bounds and the way prepared for further progress towards a settlement."

Advances Program

The secretary-general advanced a six-point program which he said could reduce the danger of war and strengthen the U. N. The major point is continued consultations among the big powers on such problems as the German, Austrian and Japanese peace treaties, atomic control and creation of an international police force.

"It is essential," he said, "for the great powers to keep in contact, to talk things over, and seriously to negotiate with one another."

Other points proposed by Lie: "A direct U. N. trusteeship over the former Italian colonies, with an administration responsible only to the trusteeship council, during an interim period before the colonies reach independence."

High priority to the Middle East in the U. N. program of technical assistance for economically backward areas.

Tackle Economic Problems

Taking full advantage of U. N. machinery in tackling world economic problems.

Admission of all 14 countries whose applications for U. N. membership are now pending.

Creation of a United Nations field service of 300 uniformed men to aid U. N. truce, plebiscite and other peace missions around the world.

Wildcat Walkout Halts Operations At Steel Company

Gary, Ind., Aug. 8.—(AP)—A wildcat walkout today halted operations in the American Bridge company, a subsidiary of the U. S. Steel company employing 2,200.

Union officials called the stoppage by 125 shipping department employees unauthorized. A management spokesman said the company had received no demands or grievances. The plant was closed when night shift workers did not cross picket lines.

John Rusak, assistant sub-director of the United States Workers Union (CIO), attributed the dispute to an employee's promotion to an assistant foreman.

It was the third stoppage to hit U. S. steel plants in this city recently. The Carnegie-Illinois sheet and tin mill was closed twice in disputes.

THE DAN DAILEYS ARE RECONCILED AGAIN

Hollywood, Aug. 8.—(AP)—The Dan Daileys were reconciled again today.

The tall actor and his wife, the former Elizabeth Hofert of Los Angeles, separated last May but she has now moved back, he said, with their 20 months old son, Dan III.

"I sure hope she's back for good," he said.

Two years ago Dailey sued for divorce but dropped it after a reconciliation. They were married in 1942.

House To Begin Debate On Minimum Wage Bill

Washington, Aug. 8.—(AP)—Truman administration forces won the first test as they opened a drive in the House today to lift the national minimum wage from 40 to 75 cents an hour.

The House voted 249 to 124 on a rollcall to bring up for debate a compromise worked out by democratic leaders last week.

The debate promised to rage most of the week, perhaps all of it.

The first hot-tempered controversy was on a point of procedure. It was whether to consider the compromise bill, backed in strong support by two administration leaders, or the original administration measure. The latter would broaden coverage of the wage-hour law much more than the former. It has been stoutly opposed by many democrats, mostly from the South.

The compromise makes only comparatively minor changes in coverage of the law, which now applies to some 20,000,000 workers in interstate commerce.

Rep. Brown (R-Ohio) declared the compromise was worked out by three southern democrats, Reps. Sims (S-

JIMMY DORSEY'S WIFE SUES FOR DIVORCE

Los Angeles, Aug. 8.—(AP)—Mrs. Jane P. Dorsey sued for divorce today from James F. "Jimmy" Dorsey, bandleader.

She charged cruelty but made no specific allegations. They were married in Chicago Nov. 5, 1927, and separated last July 1. They have a married daughter, Julia.

The complaint said the Dorseys have signed a financial settlement. Her attorney said it gave her their residence, $850 a month and 25 percent of his income above $20,000 a year.

Jimmy is a brother of Tommy Dorsey, also a bandleader.

Georgia Klan Is Ordered To Drop Masks By Leader

Atlanta, Aug. 8.—(AP)—Georgia's Ku Klux Klan was unmasked today by the "Imperial Wizard" of its wizard after South Georgians had gone gunning for robed night riders.

Wizard Samuel Green said henceforth members of his association of Georgia Klans would junk their hoods to keep the Klan from being blamed for the acts of others.

Green's order followed a shooting scrape in Iron City, Ga., in which the town's mayor, C. L. Drake, and a group of friends swapped shots with a motorcade of robed Klansmen.

The "Imperial Wizard" said his affair and blamed the incident on a "Bolshevik" group operating out of Columbus.

Hollywood's Most Eligible Bachelor Will Be Married

Los Angeles, Aug. 8.—(AP)—Hollywood's perennial "most eligible" bachelor, James Maitland Stewart, is going to be married tomorrow.

Stewart, 41, who once quipped he "could never marry one girl and be disloyal to all the others," will marry Mrs. Gloria Hatrick McLean. She is 31, the mother of Roland, 5, and Michael, 3, by her first husband, Edward B. "Ned" McLean.

The couple will be wed at 5 p.m. Tuesday at Brentwood Presbyterian church. The ceremony will be informal. On Friday the couple will embark on a 13,000-mile aerial honeymoon, and it will be months before Jimmy returns to the cameras again.

Jimmy and Gloria first met at dinner in the Gary Cooper home. The serious-minded Stewart, whose name has been linked romantically with many Hollywood girls, was at once attracted to the tall, slim, blonde Gloria. They both like the outdoors and have fished and played golf and tennis together a lot since last May 20. That was the night that Jimmy, celebrating his 41st birthday, shook off his shyness and asked Gloria to marry him.

As soon as she accepted, Jimmy called his father, Alexander Stewart, Indiana, Pa., hardware merchant, "who has been trying to marry me off for the last 20 years." Jimmy's parents are here for the wedding.

Acheson Opposes Stop-Gap Arms Aid Program of Vandy

Washington, Aug. 8.—(AP)—Secretary of State Acheson refused point-blank today to go along with the stop-gap arms aid of Senator Vandenberg (R-Mich.). He stuck firmly by the full $1,450,000,000 administration has asked to strengthen foreign nations against Russia.

The sum is necessary, Acheson said at a senate hearing, because the United States "is open to attack on its own territory as never before."

In the two world wars, he said, we had allies in Europe to hold the line while we marshalled our forces. Now there is a vacuum of military weakness there, he said—"the shield no longer exists."

The secretary opposed a senatorial move to take $175,000,000 of the aid fund specifically for China. He said it would "be helpful" to earmark a small sum to be used in the far east at presidential discretion.

Vandenberg contended that the program of arming western Europe and other noncommunist areas fixes a pattern for military defense of Europe before the North Atlantic treaty council can fulfill this function allotted to it.

So he asked Acheson: How about an interim program to show our intentions but let Congress next year decide on the total program. Would Acheson resist the idea?

Testifies Hunt Said His Sole Stock In Trade Was Influence

Washington, Aug. 8.—(AP)—James V. Hunt, a key figure in the senate investigation of alleged five percent centers, was quoted by a witness today as saying that his sole stock in trade was influence and that he had access to the White House at "any time."

Furniture maker Paul Grindle testified that Hunt boasted of warm friendship with President Truman's military aide and with two army generals, both now suspended.

Grindle, testifying before a special senate subcommittee, quoted Hunt as telling him:

"I have only one thing to sell and that is influence. My influence is based on my reputation and that is impeccable."

The Massachusetts Manufacturer said Hunt called Maj. Gen. Harry H. Vaughan, Truman military aide, "one of his closest friends" and proclaimed himself "very close," also to Secretary of Defense Johnson.

But Secretary Johnson spoke for himself. As first witness in the dealing out the sensations for which he was called to the hearing, he vowed to get rid of unscrupulous men who prey on both government and business by peddling influence in getting federal contracts for their clients.

Johnson said he was amazed at the "audacity" of such go-betweens. He has heard that their numbers are increasing, he said, and will cooperate fully to "break their power."

Grindle, 29, owns the C. W. Laing Furniture company, Framingham, Mass. His target, Hunt, was a quartermaster lieutenant colonel and an official in the Surplus Disposal agency, and now is a "management counselor" in Washington.

Though roundly denied by Hunt, Grindle's charges, when published in June, set off the senate inquiry and caused the army to suspend temporarily major generals Herman Feldman and Alden Waitt, chiefs of the army's quarter master and chemical corps, respectively.

Farmers And Farm Workers Not Included

Washington, Aug. 8.—(AP) Approval of legislation blanketing 11,000,000 additional workers under social security old age insurance, making a big boost in benefits, and increasing payroll taxes to finance the expanded program was announced today by the House Ways and Means Committee.

The legislation, which must have House and Senate approval before it becomes law, brings in a little over one-half the 20,000,000 new workers President Truman has proposed for coverage.

But the bill would raise the total number of workers from 35,000,000 to about 46,000,000 and would give the president a large part—if not all—of what he requested in an expanded social security program.

Professional Men Added

The biggest groups not covered, although requested by Mr. Truman, are 5,000,000 farmers and 3,500,000 farm workers. Others not included in the bill are some household workers employed part time and professional men, such as lawyers and doctors.

Announcement of the committee's action was made by Chairman Doughton (D-N.C.).

If finally approved by congress, the legislation would boost old age insurance benefits from 50 percent to as much as 150 percent in some categories. The average increase would be about 80 percent.

On taxes, the committee proposed that the first $3,600 of a person's income be taxed, whereas present social security law taxes only the first $3,000 of income. Employers match the old age insurance taxes paid by their employees.

Pay To Be 11%

The social security tax, now 1 percent against employer's pay and employer's payrolls, is due to jump automatically Jan. 1, 1950 to 11 percent against each and to 2 percent on each January 1, 1952. The committee tentatively has decided that the levy should increase further to 21 percent in 1960 and to 3 percent in 1965.

Extension of coverage under the new legislation would be as follows:

1. Certain self-employed persons other than farmers—about 4,500,000. (These would be covered when net earnings from self-employment are $400 or more per year.)

2. Employees of non-profit institutions other than ministers—600,000. (Employer is not compulsory taxed but may voluntarily elect to participate. If employer does not participate, employee receives only one-half credits under the program.)

3. Domestic servants not in a farm home—750,000. (They would be covered when regularly employed if cash earnings exceed $25 for a three month period.)

4. State and local government employees—4,000,000. (Covered if state enters into a compact with the federal security agency. In addition employees already under a retirement system are covered only if a two-thirds majority approve.)

5. Federal employees not under a retirement program—100,000.

6. Miscellaneous coverage groups—500,000. (Including agricultural processing workers off the farm, non-profit agricultural and horticultural organizations, voluntary employees' benefit associations, farm loan and farm credit institutions, employment of U. S. citizens outside the United States by American employers, and inclusion of tips as wages.)

A GLORIOUS TRADITION

It is impossible to overestimate the importance of tradition in the building of national character. Good tradition is lasting. Laws are often temporary.

"Expedients are for the hour; principles for the ages," said Henry Ward Beecher.

There is a tradition of the press which we believe can be recalled today to everyone's advantage. It is not a case of breast-beating—too much of that is done by the professions, businesses and trades on various days. We all have some good points and some bad. Journalism has its disgraceful representatives, just as the lawyers have their shysters and the doctor their quacks. But journalism has a tradition that has enhanced freedom for all. The leading figure in it was John Peter Zenger, who in August, 1735, won his fight against a charge of seditious libel.

Founder of the first American paper to carry on political controversy, the New York Weekly Journal, Zenger was jailed for criticizing Governor Cosby. Eight months behind bars, he continued to publish his paper "through the key hole of his cell," and argued for his theories of press freedom.

Thanks in large part to an able lawyer who shared his views, Andrew Hamilton of Philadelphia, Zenger was freed. Hamilton, who volunteered his services, argued that the jury had a right to determine the law as well as the facts. He won acquittal, but it was not until 1798 that the courts recognized truth as a defense against libel and not until 1821 that jurors were allowed to determine the law. Yet the Zenger acquittal established a tradition that was firmly rooted in America by the time the constitution came to be written. That was the main thing.

Without courageous leadership like this, it is doubtful that our tradition of press freedom would have been established. When an American commission investigated press conditions in the Balkans it found that there was no precedent for a free press and very little chance to establish one. The tradition was for whoever ruled to silence the opposition. People expected it and saw nothing especially wrong in it. The opposition could make itself heard only from the underground. It will take some leaders like John Peter Zenger to establish a real tradition for freedom in this part of the world.

And in our country, it will take some appreciation of the sacrifices of the Zengers if we are to retain our best traditions. There is too much of a desire today to get things the easy way. We should never forget that the things that really count were won the hard way.

Decatur Residents Hurt When Auto Overturns

Five Decatur residents are patients at Our Saviour's hospital, suffering from injuries received at noon Monday when their automobile overturned west of Winchester, near the junction of Routes 36 and 100.

The group was returning from a vacation trip to Colorado.

Injured in the wreck were Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Holt and their 13-year-old son, David Richard Holt, 1769 North Waters street, Decatur; Mr. and Mrs. Hosier, also of Decatur, who were with the Holt family.

The Cunningham and Danner ambulances of Winchester were sent to the scene, bringing the five victims to Our Saviour's hospital.

None of the five were unconscious. Their injuries were not believed to be serious.

The accident apparently occurred when the driver momentarily lost control of the car. One front wheel skidded on loose gravel on the shoulder and the car overturned when the driver attempted to swing the car back onto the pavement.

THE DOCTOR SAYS

Old Age Is Sure So Take It As It Comes

BY EDWIN P. JORDAN, M. D.
Written for NEA Service
People grow old at different rates of speed. Some may show signs of mental aging comparatively early, while others may go into their nineties without showing any serious mental changes.

The development of senility or an aged mind is practically never sudden. An increased tendency to forget names of people, dates, or places is a common sign of mental aging. This alone should not be taken too seriously.

Only when loss of memory has become extremely severe and is associated with other changes in mental functioning is it proper to speak of true senility. Even in this condition, however, the memory for events which happened 20 or more years before may be very good, while that for events which occurred recently may be poor.

Don't Become Upset
The person who has developed serious mental deficiencies because of great age is not, as a rule, much upset about it himself. Family and friends are often sadly distressed. It seems tragic to see a person who has formerly shown great mental and physical powers lose those powers and not even know it.

Nothing can be done about it. Therefore, family and friends should take these changes calmly and not worry too much about them. If the memory is poor, there is no reason why a notebook cannot be carried and used to jot things down. Any other aids desired should be used without hesitation.

The old person is in a difficult stage of life both for himself or herself, and for friends and family. There is no substitute for youth. However, accepting things as they are will make life smoother for all concerned.

Note: Dr. Jordan is unable to answer individual questions from readers. However, each day he will answer one of the most frequently asked questions in his column.

THE DOCTOR ANSWERS

BY EDWIN P. JORDAN, M. D.
Question: Does pneumonia come from a cold?
Answer: The germs which cause pneumonia are commonly found in normal throats. Pneumonia does frequently follow a cold, probably because the cold lowers the resistance and allows the germs already present to invade the lungs and produce the disease pneumonia.

A Happy Ending For The Writers

By HAL BOYLE
New York—(AP)—In the old days a Hollywood script writer had very little to live for.

He supported a house or two, a wife or three, some children, a few servants and a star ulcer. This brought him little happiness for, after all, he was only a writer.

And in the hierarchy of Hollywood a writer was just a $1,500-a-week object of charity. His forlorn paper dream—the script—was hacked by the producer, mislabeled by the director, ambushed by the actors, and left writing on the floor by the film cutter.

The only thing left of his original product—in many cases—was a comma here and there. And you can't hear a comma on the screen. Today all this is changed. It is now possible for movie writers to get ahead in the world without marrying the daughter of the man who owns the studio.

They can work their way up to become directors, producers and—yes—even film cutters. Some of them now write, produce, direct, and cut the film.

All To The Good
This is all to the good—in the opinion of Sidney Buchanan, who spent a decade as a writer before he became a producer.

"In studios 75 per cent of the producers are writers or former writers," he said. "And about half are carrying out both functions."

Buchanan, 47, is an expressive, featured man who looks and gestures more like Ezio Pinca or John Barrymore than a man who got his callouses studying a typewriter.

"If a man has the skill to write a fine script," he said, "he certainly should have the judgment to carry it out—to know whether a set is right or a costume is right."

"When a writer trying to implement his work in film first comes down from the ivory tower, he falters a bit, then takes to it like a duck takes to water."

Became Producer in 1937
"After all who has a better understanding of the script than the man who writes it? Why shouldn't he be able to pick and direct the cast and see that they carry out his own conceptions? And as for cutting the film, what is that but another rewriting technique?"

Buchanan himself wrote such scripts as "the sign of the cross," "Theodora Goes Wild," "Mr. Smith Goes to Washington," and "Here Comes Mr. Jordan."

He became a producer in 1937 and is best known for his music dramas, including "A Song to Remember," based on the life of Chopin. His latest is "Jolson Sings Again," a Columbia production.

Buchanan plans to make films presenting more classical and operatic music, climaxed finally by a picture on Beethoven's life.

Beauty Drill Regular Care Dental Asset

BY ALICIA HART
NEA Staff Writer

The old dental health rule—brush your teeth twice a day, see your dentist twice a year—still holds but there's more to your job than that if you expect oral health.

To be patient in the dental chair the filling of a cavity seems the most vital. Dentists, however, often find that gum diseases can cause as much trouble.

Gum troubles often stem from sheer neglect. If you're too neglectful to go to the dentist regularly to have tartar removed from the gum-line, for example, you'll end up with a painful digging job to be done and what may be worse, a receding gum-line.

Even with conscientious brushing your teeth crevices will retain tiny food particles, a cause for embarrassing mouth odors that many people never suspect.

It's both a social and health safeguard (decomposed food particles are threats to healthy teeth) for many people to use dental floss. Save this mouth hygiene measure for your private dressing room where you'll work the thin floss up and down between your teeth with a careful easy motion. A sharp jerk downward can bring an "ouchy" protest from gums.

It's also a social safeguard to carry a breath sweetener in your purse. That way you can smoke and eat strong-flavored foods without worrying about your social security.

Father-Son Signal Links R.R., Airline

Denver, Colo.—(P)—Passengers on the United Airlines' flight from Denver to Cheyenne have noticed a train far below them winking its big headlight in the night. Passengers on the 8:15 p.m. Colorado and Southern between the same two towns have on more than one occasion spotted the huge airliner flying parallel to the track, systematically blinking the lights on its wings. This has been going on for three years now.

The engineer of the train and the pilot of the plane are father and son. The blink-blink of the lights is 64-year-old Clarence Chapman's way of saying "How're you, boy?" to his airborne son, 31-year-old Capt. Leroy Chapman.

Occasionally the senior Chapman flashes-up his nocturnal hello by lighting a red railroad flare and holding it out the window of his cab. "I'm right proud of my son," Clarence says. "And I just like him to know the old man's still up and around and on the job."

BOMBS FOR BRITAIN—German bombs, this time without their "blitz" effect, are once again reaching Britain. MARSHAL WAVELL ASSAILS MODERN POETS

London—(P)—Earl Wavell, port-loving field marshal, says English poetry is in a bad way nowadays. Speaking at the annual meeting of the London Library, he complained about "the dark, obscure, discordant mutterings which pass for poetry in these days."

"I do not believe the fire of poetry has really died out of us," he said. "But I do not think the flame is very strong at the moment."

The earl favors the old standbys of English poetry. He once commended Mrs. H. A. Coleman and piled an anthology called "Other

Czechs Punish Mine Absentees

Prague—(P)—Labor juries composed of miners which sit at the mines to sentence slackers represent Czechoslovakia's latest medium to check absenteeism in its coal pits. The juries hand out various disciplinary penalties against their loafing colleagues.

Absenteeism apparently has spread recently. Disciplinary measures, formerly on a district basis, now have been installed on a national scale. Squads of "voluntary brigade" doctors have been formed to visit slacker suspects at their homes and, when they find them at the movies or in pubs while claiming to be ill, report them for penalties. The doctors are also watched by picked trade union and Communist party workers to prevent collusion with slackers.

Names and, in some cases, pictures of chronic absentees are posted on bulletin boards at the mines or in town squares and their names are broadcast over town loudspeaker systems. Names of the diligent miners are posted on honor rolls.

Student Employees At State Hospital

Seventeen students from the local colleges and high schools have been working at Jacksonville State Hospital this summer. This is part of a program which was originated in Pennsylvania a few years ago when the American Friends Society encouraged college students to accept summer employment in institutions for the mentally ill in order that a greater number of people would appreciate the social problem of mental illness. This year in Illinois a number of institutions took on students for summer employment. They have been engaged in all types of work at the institution.

Following is a list of the students, the college which they regularly attend, major subjects they study, and the work they have performed at the Jacksonville State Hospital this summer, reading from left to right:

Betty Jane Naumann, Glen Herzberger Wed

Grace Church Scene Of Pretty Ceremony Sunday

Grace Methodist church was the scene of a lovely wedding Sunday afternoon at 4 o'clock when the marriage of Miss Betty Jane Naumann, granddaughter of Mrs. John Rexroat of Virginia, and Glenn A. Herzberger, son of Mr. and Mrs. Audace Herzberger of Virginia was solemnized in a double-ring ceremony performed by the pastor, Rev. Frank Marston.

The vows were pledged before an altar banked with ferns and gladioli, flanked by glowing tapers. The candles were lighted by Robert Fox and Ed Kimmelschue.

Preceding the ceremony a prelude of organ music was presented by Mrs. Harold Wessler of Arenzville, guest organist. "At Dawning" and "I Love You Truly" were sung by Philip Stansfield, fraternity brother of the groom, accompanied by Mrs. Wessler, who also played the traditional wedding marches.

The bride was given in marriage by her father, Hilton Naumann of Peoria. Her gown was fashioned with a fitted bodice of white chantilly lace and skirt of white skinner satin, entrain, with the traditional sweetheart neckline and tight fitting sleeves forming a point over the wrist. Her veil of bridal illusion finger-tip in length and edged with lace, was held in place with a band of seeded pearls. Her only ornament was a gold necklace which belonged to her maternal aunt. She carried a fan-shaped bouquet of white roses.

Attending the bride as maid of honor was a former college classmate, Miss Phyllis Martin of Jacksonville. She wore a gown of blue frosted organza, styled similarly to that of the bride. White gloves, and a fan-shaped bouquet of pink and white asters tied with a blue ribbon completed her costume.

Other attendants to the bride were Miss Jane Herzberger, sister of the groom, and Mrs. Jean Yaple of Virginia. Their gowns, exact replicas of the honor attendant's, were of green and pink respectively. Their fan-shaped bouquets of lavender and white asters were tied with ribbons which blended with their gowns. White gloves completed their costumes.

Alan Herzberger, the groom's brother, was best man, and Clarence Thompson, Jr. and Frank Rolf, Jr. served as groomsmen. The men in the wedding party wore summer tuxedos.

Reception at Dunlap
Immediately following the wedding, a reception was held at the Dunlap Hotel where a beautiful five-tiered wedding cake adorned with a miniature bride and groom standing under an arch was cut by the couple.

The bride's grandmother wore a pastel print dress with black accessories, and the groom's mother wore a pink brocade dress with navy accessories. Both had corsages of pink roses.

Those assisting at the reception were Miss Rena Rexroat, aunt of the bride, Miss Carolyn Herzberger, sister of the groom, Miss June Kumble, and Mrs. Boylee Pfeleghoef.

The couple departed later on a wedding trip through the northern states and Canada, wearing similarly-styled tailor-made suits of brown sharkskin. Brown accessories and an orchid completed the bride's costume.

To Live in Champaign
Mr. and Mrs. Herzberger are both graduates of Virginia High School. Mrs. Herzberger attended MacMurray College and the University of Illinois and for the past year has been a teacher in the Arenzville grade school. Mr. Herzberger served 18 months in the armed forces and after his discharge enrolled at the University of Illinois where he is a member of Alpha Gamma Rho fraternity. Upon returning from their trip, they will reside in Champaign where Mr. Herzberger will continue his studies and Mrs. Herzberger will teach school.

Out-of-town guests were from Peoria, Chicago, Champaign, Peru and Athens, Markesan, Wis., and Burlington, Iowa.

Wonderful New Comfort

The Beautiful Chrysler | Silver Anniversary Model

New Convenience! Easiest car ever made to get into and out of. Women enter and leave with dignity. Common sense engineering of wider doorways, and natural step-in entrances make it seem absurd ever to have to wrestle your way in and out of a car.

New Wider Chair-Height Seats! We don't fold you up like a "jackknife." You sit comfortably in seats the height of your easy chairs at home. We've more headroom, legroom, and shoulder room for you. And no other car has ever been so completely engineered from the fundamentals up for your comfort, your convenience, your peace of mind.

New Easier Steering! In one of the great advances since the war, we give you new "center control" steering. For the first time, tie rods of equal length give you balanced control. There's no wheel fight. There's greater road stability, easier handling, less road shock. Yes, and greater safety, too—for everything about this car is designed for safer driving.

New Smoother Driving! Chrysler's mighty Spitfire engine now has still higher compression for faster acceleration, smoother response. And along with its better all-around performance goes an amazing new Waterproof Ignition System that's exclusive with Chrysler. You can drive through high water but it won't stall. You get quicker starting, even in dampest weather, smoother idling, longer life.

Plane Sprays Brook, City Dump; Clean Up Campaign Continues

A fine mist of powerful DDT solution settled down on the brook area and municipal dump grounds north of the city Monday morning as an airplane cruised back and forth at low altitude, spraying the ground in Jacksonville's all-out campaign against flies, mosquitoes, and other disease carriers.

As a plane from the Wharton Flying Service laid down a DDT barrage from the air, many citizens went about the job of spraying their own premises with hand equipment.

Four thousand pamphlets urging citizens to clean up and spray their property were distributed Sunday afternoon by 100 boys, working in cooperation with the health department and Lions club.

The airplane equipped with a 40 gallon tank made four trips over the brook and city dump area, returning to the Jacksonville airport south of the city after discharging each load. A number of city officials and members of the Lions club gathered at the airport to watch the work.

Expense of spraying the two areas will be paid by the Lions club, whose health committee is sponsoring the campaign.

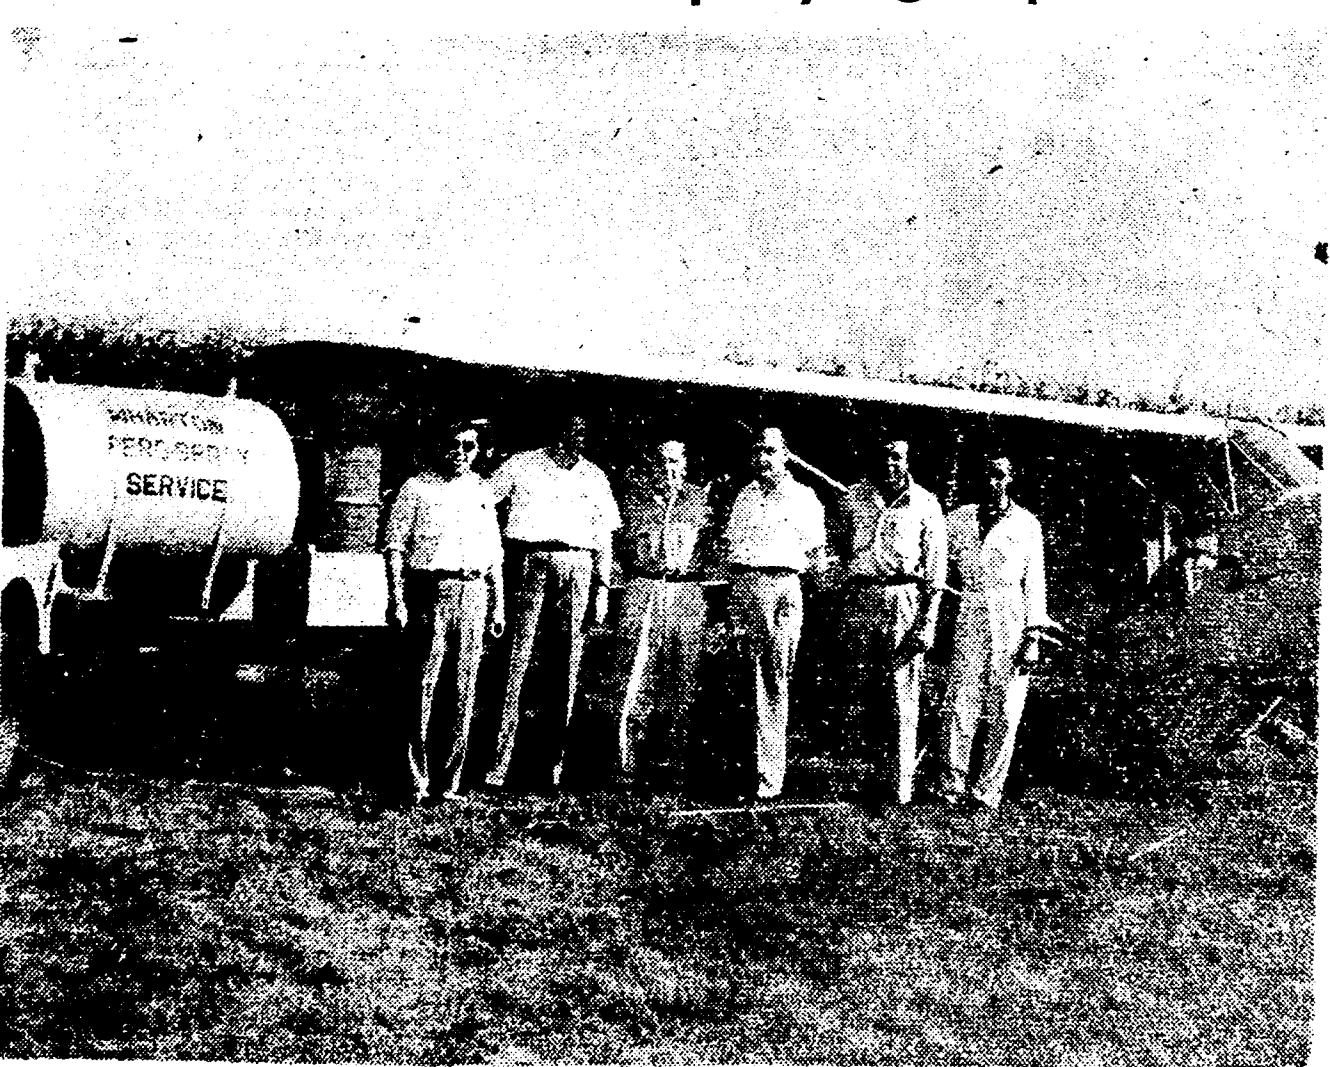

Boy Scouts, the East Side Boys club, and members of Jacksonville club softball teams distributed the circulars Sunday. Members of the Lions club manned 43 automobiles to speed the work.

The Lions acted as observers during the tour of the city, taking notes of a number of places in need of attention. These were referred to the sanitarian section of the health department.

Dr. Robert Herr, health committee chairman of the Lions, said the club is appreciative of the fine cooperation by all organizations in staging the campaign. "Everyone has shown immediate willingness to do his part," Dr. Herr said, "and Jacksonville's chances of remaining free from epidemic should be improved."

Harold Hempel was in charge of distribution of clean up circulars, dividing the city into zones. Zone captains were Don Wood, Eddie Weigand, Gordon Walker and Fred Goody, with Russell Rawlings in charge of the South Jacksonville crew.

At Base Of Aerial Spraying Operations

The airplane pictured here made numerous takeoffs from the Jacksonville Airport south of the city Monday morning, carrying a 40 gallon tank from which the town brook area and city dump were sprayed with a liquid DDT mixture. The spraying program was sponsored by the Lions club, working in conjunction with the health department and Morgan County Medical society. Left to right in the picture are Fred Wharton, operator of the Wharton Aero-Spray Service; Gordon Walker, representing the Lions club; Alderman Allen Kelly, Mayor Ernest L. Hoagland; Herb Moore, chief pilot of the Jacksonville Airport, who piloted the plane on its spraying flights; and Elmer Schultz, general maintenance man at the airport.

Ask Jacksonville And Havana Mail Route Continued

Continuance of the star mail route between Jacksonville and Havana has been urged by the Chamber of Commerce in letters to post office authorities and Congressman Sid Simpson of the 20th district. The post office department recently proposed to drop the route between the two cities.

Congressman Simpson, writing to Paul Aiken, second assistant postmaster general, said:

"It has come to the attention of this office that the Post Office Department is making a study to determine whether or not the above Star Route should be continued. Our office has received a communication from a Jacksonville citizen representing a number of business firms which would be adversely affected by the discontinuance of the Star Route. The facts set forth are as follows:

"This route is essential for the continued business activity in Jacksonville with communities between here and Havana and we earnestly request that there be no change in the present service.

"We have contacted several business firms in our community, many of whom do a mail order business with Virginia, Bath, Chanderiville and Havana. Of course, it is obvious that in the present day of autos and trucks that not all of their business is transacted by mail or express. On the other hand, this emergency mail and express service is absolutely essential if our local firms are to maintain their business contacts. A change in the route would mean approximately a twenty-four hour delay each way in the delivery of mail and express from these points. We realize that the volume of mail is probably small. It is our understanding, however, that the Postal Department must look not only at volume but also at convenience and necessity."

"In view of the above, this office respectfully requests that every possible consideration be given to the continuance of Star Route No. 35180 so that its patrons' interests may best be served. With every good wish, I am

Yours truly,
Sid Simpson, M. C.

Three Injured In Auto Wreck On Gravel Highway

Jerseyville—Three residents of Calhoun county suffered injuries in an automobile accident about 11:00 o'clock Friday night when the car in which they were riding on a gravel highway in northwest Jersey county struck a patch of loose gravel and overturned.

The accident occurred about five miles north of St. Mary's Church, West Woods, and it was some time before a telephone could be reached and an ambulance summoned. Jacoby Brothers ambulance made the run to the wreck and brought the occupants of the vehicle, Cleo Pyatt, Jesse Pyatt and William Pyatt, to the offices of a Jerseyville physician.

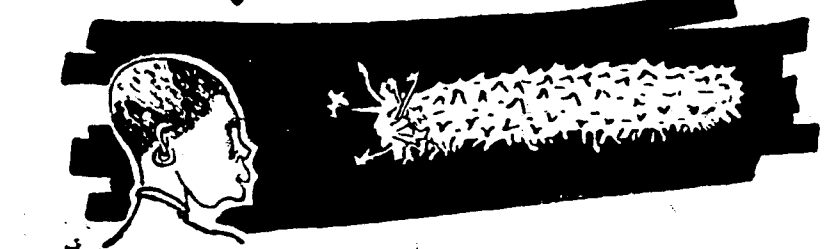

William Pyatt, a 12 year old boy, was the least seriously injured of the three. It was necessary to take twenty-three stitches to close a nasal and facial injury for one of the others.

Ways to Save

If you were a Tahitian native you would "save for a rainy day" by sun drying sea cucumbers, or rori, which have a ready market in China for use in making soup. Rori are thumb sized and shaped like jelly fish that have such a powerful smell when being dried that they must be kept "down wind" from the village. They are very tough when dried and require hours of cooking, but are said to have a marvelous flavor.

FIRST GLIMPSE

of a BRAND-NEW IDEA

HERE is a hint of something wonderful that's coming your way.

It is more than just the front end of the new Buick SPECIAL. It's a fresh new front end treatment—a "Buick first"—and it makes so much sense that it's safe to say it will start a new trend in styling.

Look it over and you'll see what we mean.

Sturdy vertical bars, attached to the bumper, form the grille—and at the same time serve as bumper-guards, which makes it impossible for you to "lock horns" with the car ahead of you.

The bumper no longer projects beyond the grille—so inches are saved in the over-all length of the car.

Parking lights are deeply recessed. The grille is made up of bars heavy enough to absorb all normal impact—and they're individually replaceable to cut repair costs in the unlikely event of damage.

Bumper, grille, bumper-guards and parking lights all become part of a single, unified design.

But—stunning as this brilliant bit of designing is—it's just a hint of all the new things you'll see when the new SPECIAL goes on display.

Even the price is good news. So watch for the full announcement—coming very soon—and you'll agree that more than ever, Buick's the one for you.

Runs Into Side Of Freight; Has Cut On Shoulder

When a fellow is in a hurry, and a freight train is standing still, there is not much argument about which can hold a crossing.

Willis Williams, 315 West Lafayette avenue, is reported to have been running toward the North West street crossing of the Wabash at 1:10 o'clock Sunday morning. The train didn't budge an inch. Williams banged into the side of one of the cars and fell down.

Witnesses to the accident called the police department. Williams was placed in Cooney's ambulance and taken to Our Saviour's hospital, where Dr. T. O. Hardesty treated him for a cut on the right shoulder.

Williams was taken home by police after his injury was dressed. The train involved in the accident was Extra 1200, eastbound.

Pepsi Cola Nine Marks 14-4 Win At Arenzville

The local Pepsi Cola softballers rolled to a 14-4 victory over an Arenzville nine on the Cass county diamond Sunday night.

Big blow of the game was credited to Pepsi second baseman Farrell Mitchell when he cracked a home run in the third inning. Rollyn Trotter banged out a triple with a pair of Pepsi runners on base in the fifth inning.

Willie Schofield turned in the winning mound performance for the Jacksonville team. He limited the Arenzville aggregation to three hits.

Henrich, Berra Out Of Yank Line Because Of Hurts

New York, Aug. 8.—(P)—Tommy Henrich, Yankee first baseman, must undergo another examination tomorrow morning before it will be known if he can play with his New York makes tomorrow night against the Boston Red Sox.

Henrich is one of four Yankee players hit by St. Louis Brown pitchers in yesterday's 20 to 2 massacre of the Missourians. Yogi Berra, Yank catcher, is another member of the foursome and will be lost to league-leading club for three weeks with a fractured thumb.

Henrich was hit on the elbow by one of Karl Drews' offerings. The joint was so stiff today that it could not be bent.

Casey Stengel, Yankee manager, said "the Browns were sore at having been belted around so much here. Some of their pictures must have taken it upon themselves to loosen up our guys. And they sure loosened up one of our vital rivets in making Berra a fracture case."

Pitches by Drews hit Henrich, second baseman Jerry Coleman and relief catcher Gus Niarhos. Dick Starr was on the mound when Berra was injured.

Coca Cola Club Wins Junior Loop Play-Off Battle

The Coca Cola juniors copped a hard-fought 9-5 softball tussle from their arch rivals, the Rogerson Coal Co. kids, to win the National league play-off and crown at the Northside park last night.

The win was marked as an upset in most fans' scorecards. Both teams, however, became eligible to compete in the A.S.A. sectional softball tournament which will get underway at Nichols park Wednesday night.

Pitching which many experts believed to be the nemesis of the Scott county outfit, was their strongest asset. Pat O'Donnell, youthful Winchester twirler, actually soft-pedaled the House of Clay boys out of the game. Flinging nothing except easy stuff, O'Donnell threw the Jacksonville hitters completely off their timing. Although he posted only a pair of strike outs, O'Donnell allowed but three safe hits.

The one solid House of Clay blow was a triple by centerfielder Norton in the sixth. O'Donnell "eased up" on the next hitter and struck him to cut off the only chance the local club had to score during the entire 17-inning fracas.

Winchester Great On Defense

Winchester defensive play, always their strongest point, was again up to par. One error was charged to the district champs, and that was of the on-the-fence, hit-or-error variety. Al Hainsfurther, Winchester centerfielder, turned in a sparkling catch of a line drive off the bat of Clay shortstop Richards.

While the Jacksonville batsmen were having their troubles with the Winchester mound ace, the case was inverted when the Scott county boys went to bat against Clay twirler Tom Nesbitt.

Nesbitt walked Dick Lashmett to open the first inning. He settled down to strike out the next hitter, but Roy Kalschnee, who gave Nesbitt a bad time all evening, pounded a double to left-centerfield to score Lashmett.

Things continued from bad to worse for the locals after that opening run. Winchester landed on Nesbitt for four hits in the third inning to register two tallies. Two more safeties in the third produced a single run, and they scored for the last time in the fifth frame on a hit and error.

Kalschnee and Hatfield teamed up to produce six of the ten Winchester hits. Nesbitt collected two out of three House of Clay thumps, and Norton's triple concluded local hitting.

Roodhouse Wins Consolation

After battling in a 4-4 deadlock for six innings, the Roodhouse Phillips 66 Flyers turned the heat on Dean Fair in the seventh, scored 5 runs and romped to a 9-4 win over the Jacksonville Elks to take consolation honors in the tournament.

Elks fielders bobbled the ball seven times to give the Roodhouse gang a host of unearned runs. Bob Vinyard limited the Elks to six hits to post his third district tournament win in four tries.

Herschel Heaton, district A.S.A. commissioner presented first, second and third place trophies when hostilities concluded. The tournament was sponsored jointly by the Jacksonville Recreation Club and Amateur Softball Association.

Moose Stay In League Chase, Whip Elks 13-4

The Moose softball club kept alive its chance to tie the "A" league-leading Implement Dealers for the championship by slaughtering the Elks 13-4 in a circuit contest at the Southside park last night.

The second-division Nesco club pitched to a 5-4 victory over their "B" league neighbors, the Red & White store, in the preliminary.

Atkins—starting Elk pitcher—twirled perfectly for two innings. The Elks hitters landed on Moose hurler Lippert for two hits and a single tally in the opening chapter and held, what appeared to be, a nice lead in the tight ball game.

The roof fell in on Atkins and the Elks in the third inning. Batting through the lineup almost twice, the Moose sluggers rapped out 7 base knocks, drew a host of free passes, and made use of an Elk error to score nine big runs and put the game on ice.

Trying for an early knockout by cashing in on the 10-run rule, the Moose came back to score a single run in the fourth. However, the one run gave them a 10-1 edge which wasn't enough to call the game.

The Elks refused to give up and fought back bitterly in the sixth inning. They scored three counters, while Dean Fair, who relieved Atkins in the fourth, was holding the Moose nine to a minimum of runs.

The winners marked a loner in the sixth and a pair of fallies in the sixth and a pair to quit with a 13-4 advantage.

Preliminary A Thriller

Real thriller of the evening was the preliminary "B" league tangle. The Nesco and Red & White clubs—both second-division teams—played

QUICK WHISKY FORMULA STILL IMPROVED

Washington—(P)—Reports that a Japanese citizen claims he can "age" whisky 15 years in 12 minutes are nothing new in the U. S. patent office. The office has 239 registered schemes to do the same trick. The 239 patents were issued between 1857 and 1942. Some of the processes were used by distillers shortly after repeal of prohibition in the United States. They were abandoned, however as basically unsatisfactory when naturally aged whiskies became available.

NEW RUSSIAN BOOKS RARER THAN GOLD
Los Angeles—(P)—New Russian books are rarer than old ones, says Dmitry Krassovsky, Slavic consultant for the University of California at Los Angeles library. Complete bibliographies of Russian publications may not be exported from Russia and finding new Russian books is a hit or miss proposition, he says. One kind of Russian publication is plentiful, he finds—that is propaganda pamphlets.

Steps to the Moon

By Adelaide Humphries

The young man hissed into Gaynel's ear. "Say it . . ."

"Fritz, dear," Gaynel repeated. "I can't imagine why I didn't recognize you at first."

followed by two plain clothes gentlemen, was bearing down on them. People were beginning to crane their necks and stare.

"Please!" Gaynel gasped, and gave the young man a little push.

THE light of battle in the young man's eye had quickened, but another push from Gaynel subdued it somewhat. "All right," he said. "I'll go! But only for your sake. There are other ways."

He dug in his pocket, pulled out a dirty, crumpled dollar bill. He poked it under Armand's nose, then tossed it on the table. "That's the pay-off," he said. "Meet me in front of the elevators. You know, between those two big palms." He gave her a grin, wrinkled his nose at Armand; bowed in exaggerated imitation of his manner, actually clicking his heels together, to the headwaiter and his henchmen; turned and took himself off.

"Anything the matter, Miss Teare?" the headwaiter asked solicitously.

Gaynel gave him her very sweetest smile. "Not now, thank you," she said. She looked at her wrist watch, a dainty affair of platinum, set in diamonds and sapphires. It had been an hour. Barry had told her he might be a bit delayed. But this was inexcusable. Though of course Barry would find an excellent excuse; one that would even place part of the blame on her. Their phone conversation had been brief and interrupted. They sometimes did meet downstairs, though Barry knew she thought it too big and noisy. But if the mistake had been hers by this time Barry could have had her paged.

"Bring my check, please." She smiled at Armand now; from her purse extracted a crisp new bill. Of course she was not going to meet that crazy young man in front of the elevators. But she had to return his dirty old dollar, didn't she? She would just hand it to him, give him the coldest possible nod and stare, founce on her way.

THE young man practically pounced on her from behind the palms. He tucked a hand beneath her elbow with just the correct degree of protectiveness and mastery. "Now," he said, facing her about and starting back in the same direction from which she had come, "we'll take care of this little matter properly. You know, I knew the minute I laid eyes on you that you were a darn good sport." Gaynel knew she should have denied that indignantly. She should have refused to budge. But she didn't want another scene.

"Where are we going?" She was practically being dragged along, he took such long strides. The dirty dollar bill was still clutched gingerly between Gaynel's immaculate white gloves.

His eyes were too clear for him to be even slightly puffed. He was the most outrageous young man.

"But not the same table!" Gaynel breathed, finding herself swept toward that very one.

"Where else? It's the most desirable table in the place. Excellent view of the Casino, far enough from the bar to escape the cacophony. . . . Here comes Nemesis. Fritz. . . . The young man hissed into Gaynel's ear. "Say it . . ."

"Fritz, dear, it's been so long since I've seen you."

"Fritz, dear," Gaynel repeated, "it's been so long. I can't imagine why I didn't recognize you, at first . . . It's quite all right," smiling up over her shoulder at the approaching Armand, as she sat down.

"The lady will have sherry again," the young man stated firmly. "As for me, make it whiskey and soda, as befits a gentleman. And, my good man," peering up at Armand through an imaginary monocle, "make it snappy, please."

American Legion Ends Convention; Asks Dues Boost

Chicago, Aug. 8.—(P)—The Illinois American Legion today wound up its 31st annual convention with a call for a 25 cent a month dues increase to fight governmental economy moves "at the expense of veterans."

The Legion also elected officers. The new department commander is Merle E. Schaad, of Peoria, formerly senior vice commander, who succeeded William G. Burns, of Chicago. The new senior vice commander is Lawrence J. Fenlon, of Chicago, a sanitary district trustee.

The election followed the tradition of alternating the posts between Chicago and downstate. There was no opposition for either spot.

The call for increased national dues was contained in a resolution approved at the final session in the gold-and-plush Chicago civic opera house. The additional money, it approved at the national convention in Philadelphia at the end of this month, would go into a $750,000 fund.

This fund will be used to fight moves toward government economy at the expense of veterans. Specifically, the resolution referred to cuts in the veterans administration and other veteran services.

Willing Workers Meet At Chapin

Chapin—The August meeting of the Loyal Willing Workers class of the Christian church was held at the home of Mrs. Frank Nash with Mrs. J. W. Thornycroft assistant hostess. Woman Commie Is Withdrawn As US Judge Blocks Quiz

New York, Aug. 8.—(P)—A woman communist from St. Louis was withdrawn as a defense witness today after the judge blocked questions put to her at the conspiracy trial of 11 top Red leaders.

The woman, Helen Musil, was asked by Defense Attorney Harry Sachar about communist books she recommended to a party training class in 1945.

The government objected without giving a reason. Federal Judge Harold R. Medina halted the questioning, also without stating a reason.

With the jury dismissed for the moment, Sachar told the court he had no choice but to withdraw the witness, since his questions were blocked.

Later, Judge Medina warned the defense that it was not properly laying the foundation for its questions. Questions were being asked about meetings, he said, without any evidence as to when and where they were held.

"It appears futile for me to try to guide you," Judge Medina said. "This is the last time I'll say that. From now on I'll just sustain the objections."

Theft Of Records In 1874 Climaxed County Seat Fight

By Richard Jumper

Nearly 75 years ago, on a frosty night in the fall of 1874, a small group of men met to make history for Virginia, Ill. These determined citizens, perhaps twelve in number, assembled secretly at the home of the mayor of Virginia. In the shadows behind the house, two wagons were waiting to take the adventurers on an unusual excursion.

Every effort had been made to avoid suspicion. Only the participants and their immediate families knew what was to take place. Inside the house, where the blinds were drawn close, this self-appointed committee gathered before the fireplace and laid plans to drive to Beardstown, thirteen miles distant, where, at an appointed hour after midnight, they were to steal the county records from the courthouse.

This act was to climax 37 years of controversy over the location of the county seat, a controversy so heated at times that fraudulent and nefarious methods had been employed to gain the desired ends.

The beginning of this struggle began in May of 1837, when an election named Beardstown the county seat. Ten thousand dollars was needed for the erection of public buildings and time limit of three years was allowed for the payment of this sum. Like many other towns, Beardstown was not overly prosperous and was slow to respond to the request for the money.

Finally, in February of 1838, a committee from Beardstown informed the county commissioners that their city would meet the specified requirements. The commissioners, strongly favoring Virginia, treated this report with contempt. The commissioners would not be moved by a second effort and they in turn fixed an agreement with Henry Hall, a property owner in Virginia, to erect the necessary buildings. In the summer of 1839 the county records were brought to this pioneer town upon completion of the courthouse and the jail.

A well-organized minority, not resigned to defeat, worked hard to have the county seat returned to Beardstown. Its size and accessibility were factors in its favor. On Sept. 3, 1842 an election was held complying with the law which the legislature had granted, and the voters decided on Beardstown as a permanent location of the county seat. In the next two years Beardstown constructed a court house in fulfillment of the promise made earlier.

It was in this building, now used as the city hall, that the famous Duff Armstrong trial was held. Here Lincoln defended and freed from a murder charge the son of a woman who had befriended him.

There the county business began on March 3, 1845. Beardstown was content, and their victory rested secure, but the Virginians were trying to gain every advantage possible for their town to regain the county seat. Virginia built a plank road over the sticky clay hills to Bluff Springs.

In 1853 another election was held and Beardstown once more won it, but the defeated people were not going to give up yet and still another election was scheduled for November 8, 1857. They lost again, but on April, 1867 an election was held and Virginia was finally successful in securing an overwhelming majority. This brought a contest in the circuit court. Virginia's poll books were rejected, and Beardstown, in triumph, remained the county seat.

In the meantime, a constitutional convention was held. A new provision favored the establishment of county seats near county centers. Virginia, so located, saw the chance to recover her loss and brought about the final election on the second Tuesday of November, 1872. To insure honesty in this contest, the polls were carefully guarded. Virginia won by a majority of 128 votes. Beardstown, not willing to accept defeat, contested this election and carried the case to the Illinois Supreme court, where it was decided in favor of Virginia.

Virginians were no doubt jubilant, but Beardstown struck a severe blow in the form of an injunction, which prevented removal of the county seat. The injunction was watched closely by both sides and for two years was kept in force. During that period, Beardstown was lulled into a false sense of security. Her lawyers relaxed, and the injunction was carelessly allowed to expire in the fall of '74. Virginia's patient waiting was well rewarded. She saw her chance to act and did so with dispatch.

This was the reason this group of men met on the night late in 1874, to plan the theft of the county clerk's records. They had erected a fine brick structure presumably intended to be a city hall but, in reality, was to be the court house. Confident that this building would soon fulfill its intended purpose, the men perfected each small detail and departed on their dangerous enterprise, wondering what awaited them at the end of their journey.

Near Beardstown the wagons halted and gunny sacks were wrapped around the wheels and the horses' hoofs.

The county clerk, a Virginia resident and accomplice, was awaiting their arrival at the court house. He had lingered after closing hours because "he had important work to be finished." Actually he was tying the records together so that they might be removed easily and swiftly.

Shortly after midnight, the Virginia men stealthily entered the court house through a side door which had been purposely left unlocked and gathered up the books that were pointed out to them. With the records safely in the wagons they started for home accompanied by the clerk.

The men enjoyed a little celebration spirits on the road from Bluff Springs and soon there were shouts of joy when all settled down for the night after they had placed the records on the second floor of the Farmer's National bank.

When Beardstown heard the news the next morning, the officers of that town came out with an injunction preventing the county officers from doing business at Virginia. All county business was at a standstill, not even a marriage license could be issued. The case was taken to the supreme court and on June 7, 1875, Virginia was named the county seat.

Because of the events of that night in November, 1874, Virginia became the county seat of Cass, and the long struggle between the two towns ended.

U.S. Seizes $6,133 From Plant Slow In Paying Taxes

Mystic, Conn., Aug. 8.—(P)—Agents of the U.S. Department of Internal Revenue today seized $6,133 from the funds of the Kellogg cable grip company here today as a penalty for failure of the concern to make direct payment to the government on its employees withholding taxes.

The seizure, said Miss Vivien Kellogg, head of the concern, was directed by U.S. Collector of Internal Revenue John Fitzpatrick at Hartford.

In a telephone interview from New York City, Miss Kellogg emphasized that today's seizure was entirely a "penalty" and did not represent unpaid taxes. "Every penny in withholding taxes has been paid and the government admits it," she asserted.

The penalty covers the final three-quarters of 1948. Early last year Miss Kellogg announced that if she was to be required to deduct and forward to the collector of Internal Revenue the taxes withheld from her employees, she would expect to be paid for the cost of making the deductions.

Family Of Gunman Decide To Claim Body From Police

Chicago, Aug. 8.—(P)—The family of a gunman slain by police changed their minds today and said they'd bury their son.

The gunman was Edward Shumak, 23 year old ex-convict who was cut down by policemen last Thursday after a running gun battle through crowded downtown streets. He was trapped in a washroom of a railway express office beneath the North-western railroad station.

The family left the inquest Saturday because of the presence of photographers. Afterward they notified city authorities that "the city killed him, let the city bury him."

Today, however, Deputy Coroner Chester Sochaki said he had been informed the family would claim the body.

Elevator At Waverly Partially Destroyed After Two Hour Blaze

A fire which withstood efforts of firemen from Waverly and Jacksonville for two hours and which attracted several thousand spectators partially destroyed the interior of a concrete grain elevator of the Whalen Grain company at Waverly last night. Discovered at 6 p.m., the fire was not extinguished until eight. There was no estimate as to damage but it is believed that it will be considerable.

Apparently the fire started from a spark which went up the cob shaft and ignited the cleaner and sheller at the top of the 110 foot structure. The rope lift to the upper stories was burned and firemen were forced to climb a steel ladder to the burning area.

After the Waverly department had fought the blaze for an hour, Jacksonville fire department dispatched a truck to render assistance. The blaze was extinguished by the combined efforts of both departments. Assistant Fire Chief Carl Litter, and Fireman Byron Campbell and Joe Sullivan made the run.

Holding a capacity of about 30,000 bushels of grain, the elevator had 8,000 bushels of wheat and about 450 bushels of corn within. Water damage to the grain was reported as serious. If the grain is a total loss damage will probably be about $25,000.

The fire which was near the Waverly square, did not endanger other buildings. Streams of water poured down from the top of the elevator put out the blaze.

The elevator is owned by John Whalen of Waverly.

Rapidly Growing Illinois Polio Cases Reach 644

Springfield, Ill., Aug. 8.—(P)—The rapidly lengthening list of Illinois polio cases reached 644 today.

Attacks to date outnumber more than three to two the cases for the corresponding period in the epidemic outbreak of 1946.

Cases downstate are running six to one ahead of Cook county and Chicago. Nineteen downstate counties counted all but two of the 49 new infections reported to State Health authorities today.

Although hard hit Centralia enjoyed at least a temporary respite, new attacks continued to turn up in neighboring communities of Marion county, sending the Centralia area case load to 89. The city proper passed its first 24 hours Monday morning without a new polio case since July 10.

Less Than 25% Of U.S. Factories Do Half Of Business

Washington, Aug. 8.—(P)—Less than two percent of the nation's factories do nearly half of the nation's business, the census bureau reported tonight.

The bureau said 4,664 plants (out of a total of 240,881) employ 500 or more persons each.

These plants, the report added, accounted for almost half of the total production as measured by value added to materials by manufacture into finished articles.

The bureau said less than one percent of the nation's factories—the 1,935 which employ more than 1,000 persons each—accounted for about one-third of the total employment (14,294,304) and of the value added by manufacture ($74,423,225,000).

Judge Will Hear Divorce Cases On 61st Wedding Date

Chicago, Aug. 8.—(P)—Superior court Judge Joseph Sabath will observe his 61st wedding anniversary tomorrow by hearing divorce cases.

Judge Sabath has heard more than 100,000 divorce cases and has granted some 75,000 divorces.

"I have no special plans," he said regarding his anniversary. "I'll be going what I've been doing for 21 years—hearing divorce cases."

As for his marriage, he said: "I married a wonderful girl. She has advised and helped me all the way."

Judge Sabath is a brother of Rep. Adolph Sabath (D-Ill.), dean of the House.

The judge said divorce "is like an illness. It can't be cured by law or law books. It has to be cured by common sense. Couples can make their lives happy or miserable, depending on whether or not they use good common sense."

He added: "In all the time I have been a judge, I may have made many mistakes of the head but never of the heart."
